
Weland Stål AB

Weland Stål AB is a leading supplier of products for roof safety and evacuation. Our range also includes railings, fixing systems for solar panels and sheet metal working services. Our promise is to deliver reliable Swedish-made products with a long life.

We have our own testing facility where new products are tested according to applicable standards before placing them on the market. A major focus of the products is that they must be easy and reliability in use. Weland Stål's roof safety products are certified and approved by SP Technical Research Institute of Sweden.

We offer our products in hot dip galvanisation, stainless steel or copper. Weland Stål always strives to deliver as safe solutions as possible.
